

The Shift

Stand High Patrol

It's called the shift, the tipping point
The shift, the tipping point

Did you know that most of financial transactions
Are run by algorithms?
No I didn't know that
Did you know that a company called narrative science
Invented Quill?
A robot writer killing the poetry Forbes
Is entirely written with that shit
I'm pessimistic I don't want my lyrics written from statistics
Artificial intelligence is growing fast
Google car drives better than me and you
Chest match I'm beaten by deep blue
Is cell-phone a part of human body? we rely on a battery
Smart phones replacing doctors
Diagnosis done by computers
They said the cities are going to be smart
Everything just falls apart
Machines control the building
Hypnotize our children
That doesn't look like Heaven!
We need to be driven

Prehistory then history and now in what period are we?
Prehistory then history and now in what period are we?
The shift, the tipping point
The shift, the tipping point

4 million dead due to air pollution
Alarming observation
We need to adapt the city
They should declare a state of emergency
There is another option
We need a serious adaptation
Climatic refugees will flee everywhere!
But they just don't care
Rural flight in the 60s
Now we try to bring back nature in cities
We gonna hit the tipping point
We need to tackle the sources
We need to change the courses
Everything is clear!
But they just don't care

Prehistory then history and now in what period are we?
Prehistory then history and now in what period are we?
The shift, the tipping point
The shift, the tipping point

If you're listening to our song in twenty fifty or later
I want to tell you that we are sorry
We just fucked it up...
