

Love Is Your Enemy

Stanfour

I keep rewinding to the final scene that's locked inside my head
It's feeding my precious need
To find an answer to the riddle of the words we left unsaid
Silence is killing me

In how many ways can you say something
When nothing is said in the end
And all that you're left with is not enough

Say, say
Searching for you in the shape of a remedy
Say, say
Is this how it feels when love is your enemy

You had me crawling through the sand while you were swimming in the sea
Was it my own belief
Have I been staring at a picture of a different you and me
I rode on a fantasy

Waking alone always sounds so easy
So why does it rip me apart
All that you're left with is not enough

Say, say
Searching for you in the shape of a remedy
Say, say
Is this how it feels when love is your enemy

Say, say
I keep on searching in the back seat
Searching for you in the shape of a remedy
Say, say
Is this how it feels when love is your enemy

I keep rewinding to the final scene that's locked inside my head
It's feeding my precious need
To find an answer to the riddle of the words we left unsaid

Is this how it feels when love is your enemy
I keep on searching in the back seat
Love is your enemy
Silence is killing me

Say, say
I keep on searching in the back seat
Searching for you in the shape of a remedy
Say, say
Keep on searching in the back seat
Is this how it feels when love is your enemy

I'm searching in the back seat
Love is your enemy
I'm searching for you
I'm searching for you
