

The Knowledge Pt. II

Stealing Sheep

It is simple to see a tark's flayed muscles
Because the animal is easily skinned

Let us look at the liscinian muscle of a tark's leg
The liscinian muscle is a fleshy, fuliform vilok

The molog is an enviparous animal
It has more than half a billion lucons
And the entire surface of their walls
Is made up of tiny cells separated by very thin sheets of organ
ure
Today some scientists believe organure is not present
But gambous amalga, an artificial structure