

Following Me

Steeleye Span

Somebody's following, following me
Somebody's following, following me

Look in his eyes, this man, he'll tell you nothing
You'll have to do what he says if you
Look in his eyes, this man, it's no use running
I know I mustn't look back at him

(Somebody's following, following me)
I feel a chill that runs straight to the bone
(Somebody's following, following me)
I've never felt so alone
And I know that I'm not mistaken
(There's been another young girl he's taken)

If I happen to take just one look in his eyes
He will turn me to ice, oh why can't I run away
Something is stopping me running away

Look in his eyes, this man, you'd never know it
He'll own your body and soul if you
Look in his eyes, this man, I mustn't show it
I mustn't show that I'm scared of him

(Somebody's following, following me)
I feel his breath on the back of my hair
(Somebody's following, following me)
And there's fear in the air
And I know that I'm not mistaken
(There's been another young girl he's taken)

If I happen to take just one look in his eyes
He will turn me to ice, oh why can't I run away
What is it stopping me running away