

Twisted Future

Steelheart

How to live when everyday I feel like I'm dying In a twisted world I'm living in and how to live when there's no more tears for crying in a world that lost me again Now how to see from a stained horizon with love that pain has over come we are just another feather floating in a world to find you

I've come so far alone I can't believe I'm still alive and the lights are getting brighter as I go deeper into life now there's no where left to turn this feeling I've become and there's no one here to show me like in the days when we were young the more I try to change things the weaker I become and the more I try to give the more I come undone

How to live when everyday I feel like I'm dying
In a twisted world I'm living in
and how to live when there's no more tears for crying
in a world that lost me again
Now how to see from a stained horizon
with love that pain has over come
we are just another feather floating
in a world to find you

There will become a day when freedom will come to reign and all the pain that surrounds us we will anchor to the wind now there's no need for crying oh let it go there's so much more to come I know

How to live when everyday I feel like I'm dying
In a twisted world I'm living in
and how to live when there's no more tears for crying
in a world that lost me again
Now how to see from a stained horizon
with love that pain has over come
we are just another feather floating
in a world to find you