

Getting There

Steffany Gretzinger

Further seems forever
Until you've seen, until you get there
Until you feel a promise land beneath your feet
But there's a reason for the journey
There is purpose in the learning
That not everything in life comes naturally
No, not everything in life comes easily

We're getting there
We're determined to discover
All that You have hidden for us along the way
And we're getting there
And Your presence is the promise
There is nothing that can stop us, we're on our way

We've tasted of Your goodness
We know that You are for us
And we can hear the sound of Heaven cheer us on
And every day begins with mercy
And every moment filled with beauty
Knowing You have gone before us, we press on Knowing You believe in us, with confidence we run

And we're getting there
We're determined to discover
All that You have hidden for us along the way
And we're getting there
And Your presence is the promise
There is nothing that can stop us, we're on our way

We will see You in the land of the living
We will find You in the mystery
Your presence is the joy set before us
For now and all eternity

And we will see You in the land of the living
We will find You in the mystery
For Your presence is the joy set before us
For now and all eternity

And we're getting there
We're determined to discover
All that You have hidden for us along the way (along the way)
And we're getting there (we're getting there)
And Your presence is the promise
There is nothing that can stop us, we're on our way

We're getting there
We're determined to discover
All that You have hidden for us along the way
And we're getting there
And Your presence is the promise
There is nothing that can stop us, we're on our way

We won't stop running, running
We won't stop coming after You (we're on our way)
We won't stop running, running

We won't stop coming after You
We won't stop running, running
We won't stop coming after You
We won't stop running, running
We won't stop coming after You

We're on our way
We won't stop coming after You
We won't stop running, running
We won't stop coming after You
We won't stop running, running
We won't stop coming after You
