One

Stephen Simmonds

In light of all the evil things, I'm done
I believe there is only one who can embrace my soul with purifying love Your beauty is comparable to none Many moons and many suns will pass, our love will last till the very end's begun That's probably eternally, so let it be

In light of all the evil things, Im done
I believe there is only one...

From the day that I first saw you smile there was no way to deny the truth my love for you has made me see the light Without you I'm helpless like a child In a world without its droughts; it's clear, but now your here forever by my side
That's probably eternally, so let it be

In light of all the evil things, Im done
I believe there is only one...
