

I've spent plenty of moonlight nights slingin' hell in the gutter
Can skin a buck with one hand, clean a bluegill with the other
If there's a cold-enough, needs-drunk, lonely bottle of beer
Yeah, I'm a willin' volunteer

Yeah, you can call me Billy, but the hills come with me
Half mud blood, half mulekick whiskey
Feelin' right at home when it all goes south
Chevy truck runnin' my mouth
Got a strong southern drawl, I'm a fool
Cannonball in the kiddie pool
Kind as the day is long
Fightin' with a fist full of fire
'Round a hot fence wire
Bite right down to the bone
Yeah, you can call me Billy, but the hills come with me (Hey)
Yeah, you can call me Billy, but the hills come with me

Collard green, cast-iron cornbread, pig on the griddle
Out in the back is a soundtrack stacked with a fiddle
With words stretched wide as a tanned mountain lion hide
Spoke slow and deeply fried

Yeah, you can call me Billy, but the hills come with me
Half mud blood, half mule kick whiskey
Feelin' right at home when it all goes south
Chevy truck runnin' my mouth
Got a strong southern drawl, I'm a fool
Cannonball in the kiddie pool
Kind as the day is long
Fightin' with a fist full of fire
'Round a hot fence wire
Bite right down to the bone
Yeah, you can call me Billy, but the hills come with me (Hey)
