

Seen That Look Before

Stereophonics

I watched you turn into a stranger
I saw your eyes split from your soul
You used to say, "Forget tomorrow
Live for today, you'll never know"

But it's too late for you sometimes
It's too late for you today

I've seen that look before
I've seen that look before
I've seen that look before
I've seen that look before

You'd fly so high, no one could save you
You'd sink so low, lock up your door
We used to laugh and dream together
Those days are gone, I miss you so

'Cause it's too late for you sometimes
It's too late for you today

I've seen that look before
I've seen that look before
I've seen that look before
I've seen that look before

Oh oh yeah

I've seen that look before
I've seen that look before
I've seen that look before
