

Ain't It Something

Steve Grand

You walked in with that grin
As if proud of the job you did
Hiding that southern accent
But I know a 'good-ole' boy' when I see him
You sat next to me, tight jeans
And suggest I pour another drink
"No chase, just straight"
And just like that it didn't feel so late

You said you noticed me before
So to hide my grin, I drank some more
And used that excuse to move close in on you

Oh oh oh, ain't it somethin'?
You're so lovely, you're oh so lovely
Ooh ooh ooh, I feel your heart beat
There's no denying
You know, life is hard and dark and heavy
But it don't have to feel so empty

We get up to his room
Wishing secretly, it was just us two
I wish he'd go back to bed
But then it's one more hit, and we're all spent
I'm not sure if I'm awake
When I feel your arms around my waist
But I smile just the same
I never want to leave this state

But some point in that blissful place
I'm woken by the worst headache
Just to realize you're gone
Now how do I just move on?

Oh oh oh, ain't it somethin'?
You're so lovely, you're oh so lovely
Ooh ooh ooh, I feel your heart beat
There's no denying
You know, life is hard and dark and heavy
But it don't have to feel so empty

And you don't even have to try
Just one look in those big gray eyes
And I'm lost for days
Will I see you again? No
This can't be all we had

You walked in with that grin
As if proud of the job you did
Hiding that southern accent, hmm

Oh oh oh, ain't it somethin'?
You're so lovely, you're oh so lovely
Ooh ooh ooh, I feel your heart beat
There's no denying
You know, life is hard and dark and heavy
But it don't have to feel so empty
