

Shadow and Flame

Steve Hackett

On the river chiaroscuro
Dawn arising out of night
Silk and saffron bathers shining
Swimming through a golden light

Shrouded figures float like driftwood
Bones and candles float with flowers
Carrion crows circling high
Above the pyres and crumbling towers