

Even Louder

Steven Malcolm

Even louder, even louder
Even when my eyes can't see it
I will sing 'til I believe it
Even louder, even louder

Yeah, so undeserving, yet we worship
Give Him all the praise, just humble servants
'Til sweat and tears, 'til no more fears
Singin' the glory of the Gospel out to every end
You covered me with grace
And a love so unconditional has got me on my face every day
Be the praise of the saints
Goes my praise every day

Even if the drum stops beating
My soul will keep on singing
Even louder, even louder
Even when my eyes can't see it
I will sing 'til I believe it
Even louder, even louder

Uh, my God is stronger than any sin that I hold
More precious than any silver and gold, yeah
I told myself that my sin made me unworthy
But truth is, I'll never be perfect
But Christ took the burden
Me, I give my all despite my downfalls
Where many see me fail, only You see me prevail
The bigger depression hits, the louder my praise gets
The bigger depression hits, the louder my praise gets, come on

Even if the drum stops beating
My soul will keep on singing
Even louder, even louder
Even when my eyes can't see it
I will sing 'til I believe it
Even louder, even louder

When I lift my voice
Heaven comes to earth
When I sing this song
I feel You respond
When I lift my voice
Heaven comes to earth
When I sing this song
I feel You respond

Even if the drum stops beating
My soul will keep on singing
Even louder, even louder
Even when my eyes can't see it
I will sing 'til I believe it
Even louder, even louder
Even louder, even louder
Even if the drum stops beating
My soul will keep on singing
Even louder, even louder
