

Change the Channel

Stillwell

If you're feeling emptiness, let devotion fill your cup
If the path is sullen, don't ever go there
If you're feeling broken down, let the good word build you up
If the path is burning, don't ever go there

Live a broken code and walk a lonely road
It's time to get away, it's time to change the channel
And after all is said, see the light ahead
It's time to get away, it's time to change the channel

If you're feeling loneliness, you can come and take my hand
If the light is blinding, don't you go there
If you're feeling apathy, you can come and laugh with me
If the sky is falling, don't you go there

Live a broken code and walk a lonely road
It's time to get away, it's time to change the channel
And after all is said, see the light ahead
It's time to get away, it's time to change the channel