

Doesn't Matter

Stone Broken

How long before you start to believe
It's right there in front of you
How long before you take it from me
And do what you gotta do

Try before it's too late, can you hear what they say
It's another mistake
'Cause I have been where you are
You've made it this far
And it doesn't even really matter

Life flashes right before your eyes
Taking control of me
Sometimes you've got to roll the dice
'Cause that's how it's gotta be

Try before it's too late, can you hear what they say
It's another mistake
'Cause I have been where you are
You've made it this far
And it doesn't even really matter

Everything you wanna try, you can't deny, you can't decide
Without a doubt, it's plain to see
Carry on and tow the line, take a bow, this is your time

Try before it's too late, can you hear what they say
It's another mistake
'Cause I have been where you are
You've made it this far
And it doesn't even really matter

And it doesn't even really matter
