

Everything Is OK

Story Untold

I turn on the TV, once again I see
Another tragedy to start off my day
I jump in my car, I turn the radio on
What a surprise another Saturday's gone

I'm sick of waking up feeling down
I wanna go away and leave this town
But this disease is everywhere!

Take away the clouds for me
And bring back the sun here again
Take away the rage in me
And play this song that I love
I wanna feel good again
And hear that everything is ok

I'm bored on my break, I see today's headlines
To find out someone robbed a bank with a gun
I turn to the window, take a look outside
Then see another fight like everything is alright!

I'm sick of waking up feeling down
I wanna go away and leave this town
But this disease is everywhere!

Take away the clouds for me
And bring back the sun here again
Take away the rage in me
And play this song that I love
I wanna feel good again
And hear that everything is ok

Am I the one who's crazy?
Or am I the one who sees?
I can't live a life waiting to finally see the light that never comes

I turn on the TV for the first time I see
A smile on a face and that's the way it should be

Take away the clouds for me
And bring back the sun here again
Take away the rage in me
And play this song that I love
I wanna feel good again
And hear that everything is ok
