

Without You

Straight Line Stitch

Without You

There's a cloud in my life that has yellowed the years
I've misplaced my heart or somehow it disappeared
I'm falling through the air across a new frontier
To find where you are hoping that you'll reappear

Chorus-

For all the words I did not say
And the mistakes that I made
Without you Without you
And all the games that we play
Will I make it out okay
Without you Without you

Such a strange twist in the story that some how I missed
Never ever thought we'd be the ones to end up like this
Where there is no you there is no me and I can't exist
I'm lost and everything is nothing in this abyss

Chorus-

For all the words I did not say
And the mistakes that I made
Without you Without you
And all the games that we play
Will I make it out okay
Without you Without you

Just the very thought of you has consumed me
It seems as if I'm in a dream and I can't wake up
I can't wake up

-Chorus-

For all the words I did not say
And the mistakes that I made
Without you Without you
And all the games that we play
Will I make it out okay
Without you Without you
