

Anything Can Happen

The Stranglers

Old man never went to war
But he knew what soldiers were for Playing God so far from home
Family traditions just like before

Anything can happen
Anything at all
The biggest fool can rule the world
As long as he has heard the call

Why do you impose your rules
And treat the rest of us like fools
Don't you know we see right through
The global bully known as you

Can't you look me in the eye
The men who sent our sons to die
Mothers, daughters, they do cry

Can't you look me in the eye
The men who sent our sons to die
Mothers, daughters, they do cry

Can't you look me in the eye
The men who sent our sons to die
Mothers, daughters, they do cry

Mothers cry
Sisters cry
Brothers die
They do cry

Anything can happen
Anything at all
Anything can happen
Anything at all
