

Into the Fire

The Strangers

I need a woman like a stag needs a hat rack
Take my time, cool off my heels and kick back
A life of Riley is the only thing that I desire
I wanna jump into the fire, jump into the fire, jump into the fire

The great banana skin of love has shown it never fails
Well I'm cut to ribbons, I've been sleeping on a bed of nails
Unbroken slumber and a brandy are what I require
And then I'll jump into the fire, jump into the fire, jump into the fire
Everyone was there

And as the sun sets to the west I look back and reflect
I don't regret a thing. What the fuck did you expect?
They say the things you hate the most are those that you inspire
And so I jumped into the fire, jumped into the fire, jumped into the fire
Everyone was there