

Another day is bursting into life
Sunlight streams through shutters
Set for darkest night
The air is still, the silence is so loud
What's going on?

I'm waiting for my call to be received
It's just another lesson in serenity
Thinking of the days gone by without a care
Where we could share
I'm standing on the road to Liberty
I'm searching for the perfect harmony
Surfing on the wave forms of reality
Flying through the clouds to find the real me

Surreal me
It's going on?

Every night there's a different melody
Floating over rooftops in the evening breeze
Memories of a song come back so easily
For you and me
I'm standing on the road to Liberty

Another day is coming to an end
The moonlight streams through shutters
Set to close again
The air is still, the silence is so loud
I'm standing on the road to Liberty
