Breathing Again

Stream of Passion

I knew you well Your regrets your wishes You secret names You dreams unleashed But little did I know Once the fear was long gone I'd be hearing word So many long for We sat and stared Through those trembling moments (the keys was kept on the back of my hand) But little did we know Once the door was open We'd be hummering songs So many long for For everything that we've shared in this life You've given me a figt of song For everything that we've been through I give you my all I'm breathing again