Chalkline

Strike Anywhere

We see the billboard girl the one devoted to ritual standing in the rain holding all of her pain inside

I know you're hurting now but I can't point my finger at the words I should or shouldn't say anything to take the pain away to walk alone on the streets tonight and fear nothing to choose to love what we are in this life and shine brighter don't let the crosses and dollar signs the symbols of man unkind make you feel that you're not real all this time walk out out of the shadows we see the lines in chalk the warning sign for where we walk in the shadows of the cities maze to try and fight for better days yeah we're ungrateful yeah we're ungrateful for holy books, religious men values of beauty, original sin all this time we unwind it i won't give up, i'm not afraid

Resister go
as long as it takes to reverse the hypocrisy
challenge the stakes
of safety and survival
at the heart
of women's voices
women's art

to walk alone on the streets tonight and fear nothing to choose to love what we are in this life all that matters don't let the crosses and dollar signs the symbols of man unkind . . . I won't give up through all this time walk out out of the shadows

if we take our strength
to market
to trade
for their
ugly
beauty
watch us
grow up
to war

no more
