

To Those

Styx

To those who do survive
Find beauty in your lives
Don't be afraid of love
Stand up and rise above

If young men could send the old ones to war
There'd soon be peace forevermore
Take their mansions and seize their gold
What kind of criminal would be so bold?
Can't deny

To those who do survive
Find beauty in your lives
Don't be afraid of love

Come in here with a message that's clear
And cuts through all of the clatter
We have faith in the human race
Not a shadow who's mad as a hatter
And he's not fooling anyone anymore

To those who do survive
Find beauty in your lives
Don't be afraid of love
Stand up and rise above...
