

Cool

Sub-Radio

You got this way of being
You got this attitude
You've got their full attention, everybody knows you

I heard you hate your body
I heard you're feeling down
I heard you changed your name and no one gets it right now

You look so cool
Painting your nails with your blue hair over your eyes
You look so cool
And I hope you got older and maybe that you realized
You look so cool
You look so cool

You moved out of our hometown
You made some better friends
You built your own house where you didn't have to pretend

And I've been safe my whole life
The world takes care of me
I see you work so hard, you make it look easy

You look so cool
Painting your nails with your blue hair over your eyes
You look so cool
And I hope you got older and maybe that you realized
You look so cool
You look so cool

Only one night, only one time
Knocks around your head for the rest of your life
Only one night, only one line
Well it's their fault for wasting your time anyway
I've got some memories of you and I
And that'll keep me good for a good while
I hope the world holds you the way that I tried to

You look so cool
Painting your nails with your blue hair over your eyes
You look so cool
And I hope you got older and maybe that you realized
You look so cool (Only one night, only one time)
You look so cool (Only one night, only one time)