

The Truth

Submersed

I speak the truth
Yet somehow you still act confused
You're unbelievable
The old is new
Reflection opens up old wounds
The pain's unbearable
I used to ask myself why I was so afraid
Now I ask myself why I'm so full of rage
Was it you?
Was it me?
Have we all been living one big fantasy?
The more you open your eyes
The more you see

The truth no longer hides
It's our pain that helps us cross the great divide
To understand ourselves and the reasons why
To find your freedom fight for truth
And what we build they can't take back from you
Standing at the edge of emptiness

Focus the dream
Everything's more than what it seems
It's make believable
Healing through screams
I'm filling, bursting at the seams
It's undeniable
I used to ask myself why I was so afraid
Now I ask myself why I'm so full of rage
Was it you?
Was it me?
Have we all been living one big fantasy?
The more you open your eyes
The more you see

The truth no longer hides
It's our pain that helps us cross the great divide
To understand ourselves and the reasons why
To find your freedom fight for truth
And what we build they can't take back from you
Standing at the edge
Of emptiness

The truth no longer hides
Standing at the edge
Of emptiness