

For months I really thought that you could save me
Put up a wing for sale so you could see me
But I haven't really thought about you lately lately lately
For months I thought you meant it when you told me
Handed control in fear that you would hate me
But I haven't really thought about you lately lately lately

Another go over the phone in that tone
Take you slow show you home blow' n go
Amaretto swallowed in Jo Malone
Maybe I like sleeping all alone

Anywhere the wind blows
Yes, the river flows
You said you wanted space so I gave you the moon
Used to tell the constellations
I'm stuck inside a fiction
Whenever the wind blows
I'm ready to go

For months I really thought that you could save me
Put up a wing for sale so you could see me
But I haven't really thought about you lately lately lately
For months I thought you meant it when you told me
Handed control in fear that you would hate me
But I haven't really thought about you lately lately lately

I covered over our tattoo
In hope we both find somebody new
I tried and tried to hate you
But I end up only missing you

Anywhere the wind blows
Yes, the river flows
You said you wanted space so I gave you the moon
Used to tell the constellations
I'm stuck inside a fiction
Whenever the wind blows
I'm ready to go

For months I really thought that you could save me
Put up a wing for sale so you could see me
But I haven't really thought about you lately lately lately
For months I thought you meant it when you told me
Handed control in fear that you would hate me
But I haven't really thought about you lately lately lately
