

Over The Edge

Sum 41

Where does it end? How 'bout revenge
I'd fallen prey to the madness that burns bright red
It's not enough, to give it up
I need a god that doesn't fail but I'm all out of trust now
Your lies are a disease and you've been bleeding black

Over the edge and it's too late 'cause now I'm letting go
In the end I can't stay in this cycle of control
It's hard to breathe
I can't find reason to believe
So this is the end and it's the last you'll hear from me

Right from the start, you showed your cards
Guess it's my fault for thinking that it was from the heart
This starts again, new life begins
Second chance for redemption but this time I win so
Your lies are a disease and you've been bleeding black

Over the edge and it's too late 'cause now I'm letting go
In the end I can't stay in this cycle of control
It's hard to breathe
I can't find reason to believe
So this is the end and it's the last you'll hear from me

Over the edge and it's too late 'cause now I'm letting go
In the end I can't stay in this cycle of control

Over the edge and it's too late 'cause now I'm letting go
In the end I can't stay in this cycle of control
It's hard to breathe
I can't find reason to believe
So this is the end and it's the last you'll hear from me
The last you'll hear from me
