

The People Vs...

Sum 41

Another place, another time, a new direction
Maybe we can try to find some peace in time
Might be just a bit beyond your comprehension
Just a little case of pulling teeth to find

That day after day
You see it slipping away from your hands
You've got to say

I know a bad man when I see his face
And now we suffer as the human race
And he's a bad man, but I've got faith
To end this misery
He's got to go, he's got to go
He's got to go, yeah
And all I know this is no life for me

Well history repeats itself, it's almost insignificant
Just another changing of the guard and I've Heard it all before, it's nothing new, it's different
Still it's always hard to try and disregard

Well day after day
You see it slipping away from your hands
You've got to say

I know a bad man when I see his face
And now we suffer as the human race
And he's a bad man, but I've got faith
To end this misery
He's got to go, he's got to go
He's got to go, yeah
And all I know this is no life for me

Show me the sign, give me motivation
Make me believe it's a passing trend
Sometimes I feel like we've all been hexed this time
Will this ever end?

Well day after day
You see it slipping away from your hands
You've got to say it now
There's no other way
The price that you need to pay it's about time
We've got to say

I know a bad man when I see his face
And now we suffer as the human race
And he's a bad man, but I've got faith
To end this misery
He's got to go, he's got to go
He's got to go, yeah
And all I know this is no life for me
