

Everytime

Sundara Karma

Reaching out for something
Imagining a world
Collapsing into nothing
The vanishing of a pearl

And I'm lying here while awake
But everything is dead
Visions render opaque
Gold turns into red

Sometimes all of my thoughts revert to you
I heard you've outrun your trauma, is it true?
I saw you invert a red rose into blue

Every time I hold on it fades away
Every time it leaves I want it to stay
Everything has changed but still works the same
Everything in motion inside a game

Everything like clockwork
A television sky
Like stars inside a network
Think I'll never die

I remember how I felt without it
I remember how I felt with you
It was always so hypnotic
There's nothing to undo

Sometimes all of my thoughts revert to you
I heard you've outrun your trauma, is it true?
I saw you invert a red rose into blue

Every time I hold on it fades away
Every time it leaves I want it to stay
Everything has changed but still works the same
Everything in motion inside a game

Disappear, disintegrate
Into the clear static waves
Disappear, disintegrate
Into the clear static waves

(Every time I hold on it fades away)
(Every time it leaves I want it to stay)
(Everything has changed but still works the same)
(Everything in motion inside a game)

Every time I hold on it fades away
Every time it leaves I want it to stay
Everything has changed but still works the same
Everything in motion inside a game