

Lifelines

Sundara Karma

Lifelines

We make amends and say our last goodbyes
Like falling through a ceiling
Surging through a jet stream, I'm losing all feeling

Time flies

Somehow we drift away from our love lives
But you can make new friends
Well, I've been meeting dead ends
I'm losing all meaning

Tell me that you want me
Give me all the lies I've been looking for
You're the handle to my wooden door
The butter to my bread

Lifelines

I'd throw a rope thinking love is blind
Swimming in the deep end
You've been scheming, I'm barely breathing

Oh, what I'd give to be born again
Days become night
Night becomes hell
Oh, what's to blame for it all
And I'll kick and I'll move
And face it alone

Oh, I settled for second best
There's nothing more
Being your ex
If you can't, [?]
I can't do it
Okay, put it back

[?] to work
Well, then I would just run out of the picture

Lifelines

Sooner or later everything will die
Am I not the exception?
Guess I'm nothing special
Thanks for the life lesson
