

Stand By Me

Sunflower Bean

When we met I thought I was dreaming
I want to see you that way
Stood by all my heartache, built me up through the pain
Now I feel something's different
You want me to stay in my lane
You want a girl who sits back and takes it
That's not the way that I play

Are you man enough to stand by my side?
(Are you man enough to stand by my side
Got myself together but it's so hard not to cry)
Are you strong enough to ride this ride?
(Are you strong enough to tell me that I'm right
Do you really think that we can make it through the night?)

When you find someone quiet
Obeying everyone of your words
Who's gonna worship your footsteps
You like em' seen and not heard
You'll remember this feeling
You'll remember my face
Cause I'm not the one who's stopping
And you're still screaming my name

Are you man enough to stand by my side?
(Are you man enough to stand by my side
Got myself together but it's so hard not to cry)
Are you strong enough to ride this ride?
(Are you strong enough to tell me that I'm right
Do you really think that we can make it through the night?)

Do you think this is easy?
I don't want to be strong all of the time
Do you think this is easy
I've carried this for so long all of the time

Are you man enough to stand by my side?
(Are you man enough to stand by my side
Got myself together but it's so hard not to cry)
Are you strong enough to ride this ride?
(Are you strong enough to tell me that I'm right
Do you really think that we can make it through the night?)
