

Married Alone

Sunny Sweeney

Together apart, married alone
It's hell on the heart lying in the dark
Trying not to let you hear the tears fall thru the phone
This house is where we live but without you here
Honey, it ain't a home
There may be rings on our fingers
But we're married alone

Kiss me goodbye for worse or for better
Four days and three days and three nights
Might as well be forever
Don't say you miss me
It hurts more that helps
Mr. And Mrs. All by ourselves

This half single life is like an old pair of shoes
They just don't fit quite like they used to Lonely's a friend we both know too well
But still we're all in on the hand we've been dealt

Together apart, married alone
It's hell on the heart lying in the dark
Trying not to let you hear the tears fall thru the phone
This house is where we live but without you here
Honey, it ain't a home
There may be rings on our fingers
But we're married alone

We're supposed to pick up right where we left
Put us back together before the next
Time to get going one more kiss goodbye
Til death do us part another part of me dies

Together apart, married alone
It's hell on the heart lying in the dark
Trying not to let you hear the tears fall thru the phone
This house is where we live but without you here
Honey, it ain't a home
There may be rings on our fingers
But we're married alone
No, I don't wanna be strangers
Married alone
