

I Can't Wait

Sunset Sons

Close your eyes, say goodbye, hold her tight watch her cry oh n o
Seasons come seasons go, winter's here there she goes alone
Whistle blows to board the train, hold the tears, try refrain y our own
Never knowing when, hard to find, watch her face she blows my m ind again

It was a clear light morning the birds were storming the day
Sun on the hill butterflies I feel, end of may Just like a young boy driving to the summer of '69
I put my best face on and I run to find the girl that's mine

When I saw your face tonight
In your eyes I could see the light
And it's been so long I know
But I can still hear the song that was playing on the radio

Pull up a chair, take a seat when your ready to ride
Fill up your arms, hold my hand, put your head on my side
It's been a long time coming and I'm glad I'm spending time wit h you
Not sure when this will end so I might as well enjoy the view

When I saw your face tonight
In your eyes I could see the light
And it's been so long I know
But I can still hear the song that was playing on the radio

When I saw your face tonight
In your eyes I could see the light
And it's been so long I know
But I can still hear the song that was playing on the radio

When I saw your face tonight
In your eyes I could see the light
And it's been so long I know
But I can still hear the song that was playing on the radio
