

A Warning For The Heart

Sunshine Anderson

I don't wanna do the love thing anymore
There's too much pain in store
What's the point of falling in love
If one day you don't have it anymore?
[?] time should have told me before
Turn before you walk through the door

One thing becoming very clear
The next time it is best to stay
In a different direction from affection
It's a useless confection
And it only misleads [?] deeds

And I don't wanna do this love thing anymore
There's too much pain in store
What's the point of falling in love
If one day you don't have it anymore?
[?] time should have told me before
Turn before you walk through the door

Turn before you walk through the door
