The Spooky Cat Song

Sunshine

five in the morning
under red spotlight
she cried, she's laughing
in the same time

I try to be silenced
she couldn't sleep
don't watch my eyes
just pull your head
to my shoulder now
and try to be born
get up with smile
again

our bed is your coffin
laying under red spotlight
she died, she's moving
and left me alone

I try to be silenced
she couldn't sleep
don't watch my eyes
just put your head
to my shoulder now
and try be born
born again
by love

black horses appear in your necro-dreams you know what that means
just put your head
to my shoulder now
and try to be born
born again
by love
