

Don't Wake Me

Sunsleep

I feel it in my bones, baby
I'm growing weak and tired
I feel it in my soul, lately
I've lost control of the fire
I've never been this deep and out of place
Never felt the marks on my face
I've never come so close and felt so far
Never seen this space between our hearts
Don't wake me up

Don't wake me up
Until the time has come to open up our lock
Won't take it all
Unto another breath
Until I wake from death

I'm deep within the mold that shapes me
Connecting all the lines
Protected by the walls and framing
In the corners of my mind
You've gotta build it up when broken down
Gotta fill the cup when running out
And when I catch you on the other side
I hope to see you again with brand new eyes

Don't wake me up
Until the time has come to open up our lock
Won't take it all
Unto another breath
Until I wake from death
Oh, don't wake me up
Don't wake me up, no

In my dreams, I surrender
In my sleep, I'm far from pain
Falling deep I don't remember your face

Don't wake me up
Until the time has come to open up our lock
Won't take it all
Unto another breath
Until I wake from death
Oh, don't wake me up
Don't wake me up
