

Live Again

Sunsleep

I didn't wanna wake up
I didn't wanna know
I didn't wanna see the worst of me lose control
I didn't wanna breathe another breath
I didn't wanna look inside and let you in again
Open your eyes
Take a look inside
You might find something that you like

I didn't wanna look back
But better off we do
The past at a glance can help us start anew
I couldn't leave you there
And so much has changed
So I couldn't compare the ones that broke me down

Won't you open your eyes
Take a look inside
And you might find something that you like

Something's out there waiting for you
Don't give up now, whatever you do
Take a moment, learn from the past
We can live again, live again
Break the silence, raise up your voice
Don't let go now, you've got the choice
But when your world comes crashing down
Build it up again, live again

I didn't wanna wake up
I didn't wanna know
I didn't wanna see the worst of me lose control
I didn't wanna breathe another breath
I didn't wanna look inside and let you in again

Something's out there waiting for you
Don't give up now, whatever you do
Take a moment, learn from the past
We can live again, live again
Break the silence, raise up your voice
Don't let go now, you've got the choice
But when your world comes crashing down
Build it up again, live again
Live again, again