

Making Up For Lost Time

Sunstorm

So overcome
Each time I see you
So much to say
Give me the time
Memories flow
And echo forever in my mind
One by one
I pick up the pieces
How can we win?
You're looking fine

Honestly speaks
I'm no good at leaving you behind
When the questions and answers have all cleared
And the small talk has all about disappeared
There's always a hush
So fragile the moment
So urgent the touch
And baby

We're making up for lost time
Taking back the secrets we've wasted
The years left behind
Reaching out, holding what's mine
Savouring the love that we've tasted
Oh, we're making up for lost time

Sometimes our pride
Stands in between us
And tell us to walk
A road of our own
Something inside
Tell us we're fools to walk alone

And we talk of why it ever fell apart
And we shake our heads
And wonder from our hearts
How could this be wrong?
We're out of our minds
To have waited so long
And baby

We're making up for lost time
Taking back the moments we've wasted
Reaching out, holding what's mine
Savouring the love that we've tasted
Oh, we're making up for lost time

Time, time, ticking by
Each and every breath
We stand in the balance
We hang by a thread
I know with every beat of your heart
That time's gonna heal us
Not keep us apart

We're making up for lost time
The love left behind

We're making for lost time
