

Tell me all the things that I don't understand
You wonder why I push away
You opened up a wound. Taught me to be a man
Now you're just not listening

I don't want to be like that
A spitting image of a man I once knew
I can't believe I fell for it
I feel so used

Tell me all the things that I don't want to hear
You think that you felt all my pain
You opened up a wound. You should open up your ears
Because you're just not listening

I don't want to be like that
A spitting image of a man I once knew
I can't believe I fell for it
I feel so used

I don't want to listen