

Long Gone

Superheaven

We're all alone
Drifting through the great unknown
Swear I never felt this cold
This is god

It's in their eyes
Flames have never burned this bright
I got nothing left to fight
It's long gone

We opened a window to a different place
Climbed through and forgot ourselves
We're so past the point that we could ever be saved
Angels from a distant hell

We're on a roll
Getting high to keep us low
I just wanna let you know
Something's wrong

We opened a window to a different place
Climbed through and forgot ourselves
We're so past the point that we could ever be saved
Angels from a distant hell
