Spellbound

Supreme Majesty

Standing alone in sorrow Wake up now the smoke has cleared Feels like there's no tomorrow But no one can see your fear

Fight against the demons in your mind You can feel it coming from behind

You'll see a light across the sky If you surrender you will die Never look back, remember you're on the run No one but you can break the spell Leaving your life a living hell Follow the signs, away from the evil one ...