

So I'll be on time
Don't need a Rolex on my wrist
To know I've got your little hand in mine
And we can throw out all our issues
Watch the minutes cruise by
Who cares if it makes no sense
And we don't have to choose wisely, know
That I'll always be on time

Say the word and I promise I'll be right outside
Give me a minute and you'll see I'm not a regular guy
I got a tic that makes me always wanna roll the dice
If they say we won't make it tell 'em I ain't takin' advice
And I'll be over when we're older waitin' at your door
I'll only leave you like the tide washes back to shore
I promise everything between, after and before

So I'll be on time
Don't need a Rolex on my wrist
To know I've got your little hand in mine
And we can throw out all our issues
Watch the minutes cruise by
Who cares if it makes no sense
And we don't have to choose wisely, know
That I'll always be on time

Haven't checked my E.T.A., it's been a cool minute
But leave the light on for me this is not a new visit
Used to pick you up from class in my blue civic Didn't care what we were driving, long as you in it
And I'll be over when we're older waitin' at your door
I'll only leave you like the tide washes back to shore
I promise everything between, after and before

So I'll be on time
Don't need a Rolex on my wrist
To know I've got your little hand in mine
And we can throw out all our issues
Watch the minutes cruise by
Who cares if it makes no sense
And we don't have to choose wisely, know
That I'll always be on time
