

Thankful

Surfaces

Mmmmmmm, mmmm

You say I care too much about what people think
And I'm always lost inside of the same old things
Wasting all my energy on me
And I never think before I speak
You tell me that my ego is going to hold me back
And I keep on thinking I'm just all that
Guess I'm just my worst enemy
Will you be the one to set me free

You say I'm dumb, you say I'm crazy
You say I work too hard, then I'm lazy
And while that hurts to hear, I know it's true
You make me wanna, change it all for you

Oh, I'm so thankful, that you put me in my place
No one's ever loved me real enough to say it right to my face
I'm so thankful, that you counted all my scars
No one's ever lived me real enough to pull it all apart
And put it back together
Put it back together

You know it's never been a little diamond ring
Keeping it together when the last bell sings
I just hope you never wanna leave
You're the only one who makes my heart beat
And if I'm not myself you always call me out
Keeping me together when I have my doubts
Am I just my worst enemy
Will you be the one to set me free

You say I'm dumb, you say I'm crazy
You say I work too hard, then I'm lazy
And while that hurts to hear, I know it's true
You make me wanna, change it all for you

Oh I'm so thankful, that you put me in my place
No one's ever loved me real enough to say it right to my face
I'm so thankful, that you counted all my scars
No one's ever lived me real enough to pull it all apart
And put it back together
Put it back together (mmmmmm)

Through the ups and all the downs
All the blues and all the browns
You're the gravity that grounds
While I'm circling around
