

I was fearless, I was brave
Then I grew older
What's a number, what's an age, now?

I took too long so all your lights were out
I blew my chance, your cigarette's burnt out
You never wasted any moment
No second guessing why and what would come your way

I'm afraid, there's all these lines upon my face
I'm afraid I won't get back the person you believed in more
Can I get back that person who stood here before?

I was fearless, I was brave
Then I grew older
What's a number, what's an age, now?

I know you blame me for this every time
Should I just wait for you to draw the line?
Because you never wasted any moment
No second guessing why and what would come your way

Oh, I'm afraid, there's all these lines upon my face
I'm afraid I won't get back the person you believed in more
Can I get back that person who stood here before?
Can I get back that person you believed in more?
Can I get back that person who stood here before?

I was fearless, I was brave
Then I grew older
What's a number, what's an age, now?

I was fearless, I was brave
Then I grew older
What's a number, what's an age, now?