Survive Said The Prophet

Marking all the little imperfection
Down to every point of fact and fiction
Can't be where we belong
Life is never when you least expected
It's not all about the "he said, she said"
Shaping us all around

Trying to be what we're taught with pride
Trying to please every word they sell
Honestly, this can't be the reason now
To let it take control of my life

Find yourself and lose yourself
It's not about just being a part of the system
Make yourself and break yourself
You are far from being one of the victims

Are we losing sights of trends that take you
Further down the path of cultivation
The place we've always belonged
Swallowed up by all the information
With the common misinterpretations
Can't be what we have longed

Trying to be what we're taught with pride
Trying to please every word they sell
Honestly, this can't be the reason now

Find yourself and lose yourself
It's not about just being a part of the system
Make yourself and break yourself
You are far from being one of the victims

Read between the lines you see
Cause there's more to life with every struggle
Be the brave, come along and step right in
Read between the lines you see
Cause there's more to life with every struggle
Be the brave, come along and step right in

Trying to be what we're taught with pride
Trying to please every word they sell
Honestly, this can't be the reason now
To let it take control of my life

Find yourself and lose yourself
It's not about just being a part of the system
Make yourself and break yourself
You are far from being one of the victims
