Strings...

Everybody tries to slide down slowly
Everybody tries to pave their own way
Take it slowly to that space called sadness
Make it lonely, to the edge of the day
Strings

Everybody hits the highway running
Flying here and there and god knows where
Never thinking bout that train that's coming
Another passenger, just rolling away
Strings, strings

Strings, they hold us all forever
Strings, they're all the songs we sing
Strings, they join us all together
Strings, strings, strings

We come into this world with both eyes open
Then we leave this world with both eyes closed
In the middle is that place called madness
Hiding secrets deep, where nobody goes
Strings, strings
Strings, strings
Strings, strings

Strings, they hold us all forever
Strings, they're all the songs we sing
Strings, they join us all together
Strings, strings, strings
