

Never Should Have Let You Go

Svala

I see you in the street
And I have to say your name
Now you're back on your feet
I wish I could say the same
You were here, in my arms
And your eyes
Were filled with love
You were mine, heart and soul
But what was I thinking of

I had it all when I held you
Somehow I just didn't see it
How could I be such a blind fool
I never should have let
I never should have let you go

You are the only one I need
You are the reason that I breathe
I was a fool and now I know
I never should have let you go

I see you, on the street
And I have to say your name
Now you're back on your feet
I wish I could say the same

Every day without you
I wish that I could
Turn the time back
My every dream is about you
I never should have let
I never should have let you go

You are the only one I need
You are the reason that I breathe
I was a fool and now I know
I never should have let you go
You are the only one I need
You are the reason that I breathe
I was a fool and now I know
I never should have let you go
