

Stone

Sweet Noise

I wanna thank you mother For being with me, ever were you I want na thank you for each night and day For all the things that you told me I memorized all of them You used to say be honest, be good, keep you trusting people I stepped down to the world I re turned the weaker And smaller! I took evil for my being upright Lies for my truth

Should I be cold as a stone? Mother! Should I be cold as a stone?
Mother!

I've got struck from behind I've thought that it would be the last one Somebody spit right into my face I thought he wouldn't do it again When I cried myself blind, watching the blood flow They said I was pretending I opened my heart to my friends my friends sold my heart

Cold as a stone I'm getting cold I'm a stone Cold as a stone I'm getting cold I'm a stone Cold as a stone I'm getting cold I'm a stone Cold as a stone Should I be cold As a stone

I was an open book Now the book's on fire My dreams, thoughts All burnt on the fire Used to know lot of people Now I know few Now I know few! My frustration became my power Changed my rage from my pain Once I had just one face Now I have two Now I have two Each of my faces Is just as true As everything I was Told by you One I gave for the world The other I have just for you You'll be the one To see my scars I'll tell you words the (?????) (?) wouldn't (?????) Show you All the places I had to run to Mother, tell me! Mother, tell me! Mother, tell! Tell me!

Mother, tell me! Mother, tell me! Mother, tell me! Tell!

Mama tell me Mama tell me Should I be cold as a stone cold as a stone Should I be cold as a stone! I'm getting cold I'm getting cold As a stone I'm a stone Cold as a stone Cold as a stone Cold as a stone Cold as a stone
