

Well they always told me that simple isn't always best, but best is always simple!

Wanna hear that again?

I said, they always told me that simple wasn't always best, but best was always simple!

How do you like my taste? Haha!

There is no higher vision
Than where my eyes could take off
And the planes don't take me high enough
Only God with those eyes and those wings
Can take me high in the sky
Where my clouds become my pillows

Did you ever pray in the spirit?

Like, when I used to go to a prayer meeting, they used- they taught me how to like sing, and they said it was supposed to be, like, your holy spirit

And then you, like, sing and then it's just the Holy Spirit singing for you, but you're not speaking any language, you don't know what you're talking about, but only God knows, and then you just sing

And it goes something like this

I mean I'm not gonna be like, thinking anything, it's just that I'll feel what I feel in my heart and then I'll just keep on singing!

Sometimes it won't be in tune, sometimes it's out of key alright, but who cares

As long as someone's listening, right?

Um, let's see. Pretend that I, um... that I'm over there

But you know, I don't have to pretend sometimes

I guess I just- I'm a little nervous

Nervousness, it makes you really unsure

Okay, if you want me to pray in the Spirit, I can do that right now, but I have to sing it, 'cause it sounds better. They said it sounds better if you sing in the spirit

If it seems a little weird, then... you shouldn't think so

But I know you think it's weird, but it's okay, just don't be scared, okay?

Dances are over

People don't know the justice to live this way

Look on no one

Nor those books you love

And those books you love
