From My Window

Swing Out Sister

Strangers There was nothing left between us Changes Neither one of us could see Tell me Why did we leave yesterday so far away From my window I see the world pass me by What a waste of time On a dead end street where the sun never shines In my mind This time Nothing else could come between us We'll find More than we could ever know Slowly We'll let go of yesterday Why don't you stay? From my window I see the world pass me by And the world looks fine Now I've found a place where the sun always shines All the time In my mind Now I've found the place in my mind where the sun will always shine when it's cold outside Now we've found love The sun will always shine in my mind When it's cold outside The sun will always will shine In my mind, in my mind

We'll make the sun shine now that we've found love
