Precious Words

Swing Out Sister

Another strange awakening Another memory on its way Another night in an empty room Another throw away day

How long Must I go on fooling myself In a world of make-believe

Precious words Are all that I have left to prove That I've nothing more left to lose

Precious words won't bring you back to me Precious words won't bring you back to me

Loneliness says much more Than a thousand words ever said Coversations pass me by I'm left with silence instead

How long must I go on fooling myself In a world of make-believe

Precious words won't bring you back to me Precious words won't bring you back to me

You left my world empty Now there's nothing to say

Precious words Won't bring you back to me...

How long Must I go on fooling myself In a world of make-believe

Precious words won't bring you back to me Precious words won't bring you back to me You left my world empty Now there's nothing to say Precious words Won't bring you back to me
